Flexible work at home – become a

Language editor

idioma is an international publishing company specialized in technical documentation. We handle translation, layout work and printing projects for clients mainly in Japan, where our head office is.

We are looking for language editors to join our international teams. You will work with proofreading, editing and eventually translation of text into your native language.

Type of Work

We prepare and publish texts in multiple languages for e.g. operating instructions supplied with TVs, stereos, refrigerators, air conditioners,cameras,cars,etc., product leaflets, promotional brochures, company web sites, etc.

Language editors work with:

- Proofreading - Read and correct documents translated by others
- Editing - Review and amend incomplete texts to make a final document
- Translation - Translate from one language into another (your mother tongue)

Flexible Work

Work is on a freelance basis. You work at home on your PC with standard MS Office applications. You decide if you want to accept and decline assignments. Earn anywhere from €200 to €2,000 per month depending on how much you can work.
